

EARTH DAY TOOLKIT PART 2, APRIL 2021

Share your favorite place in nature with us.

When the world was spinning, nature recentered us. When we were stuck inside, it became our escape. And when we felt overwhelmed, it allowed us room to breathe.

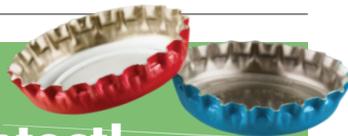

2020 reminded us all why we protect Georgia’s sacred outdoor spaces. And it emboldened EarthShare Georgia’s conviction that these destinations need to be protected and preserved so that everyone has access to places of peaceful refuge.

Where did you go to breathe easier? Was it on the water? Hiking through the mountains? Or sitting under your favorite tree at your local park?

Share your favorite place with us.

The next time you’re there, snap a picture or take a video and post it on social media using the #earthsharing.

#reconsiderlitter Earth Month contest!

1) Gather materials from your house or yard that often become litter if not disposed of properly—soda cans, glass bottles, aluminum cans, straws, bottle caps, cardboard, hubcaps, tires, etc.

2) Visit Keep Georgia Beautiful Foundation for inspiration, or use your own imagination, to create an upcycled piece of art for your yard, balcony, or windowsill.

3) Post a photo of your creation on Instagram or Facebook by FRIDAY APRIL 23, tagging @keepgeorgiabeautifulfoundation and #reconsiderlitter. Feel free to include yourself in the photo as well.

Share with us.

20th Annual Parks & Greenspace Conference

THE New Case FOR parks

Tuesday, May 4, 2021
9:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m.
Virtual Event

featuring Keynotes:

Atiya Wells, RN Marshall Shepherd, PhD Kofi Boone, FALSA Al Bangoura, CPRP

Urban parks are more important than ever before!

Park Pride's 20th Annual Parks and Greenspace Conference, The New Case for Parks, will explore how the recent convergence of crises--the pandemic, racial justice, and extreme weather events--have altered the parks conversation and highlighted the urgent need for investment and equity in our park systems.

Registration for this virtual event on May 4th is open. We hope you'll join us there.

Ocmulgee River Paddle-Pedal with Georgia River Network, May 8

This 11-mile bike and 8-mile paddle takes us to Middle Georgia. The journey will coincide with Abbeville's Ocmulgee Wild Hog Festival. We'll begin by dropping our boats at Ochise Landing in Dodge County, and then drive our vehicles to Half Moon Landing. From there, we'll cycle back to Ochise Landing to begin the paddle. Bicycles will be shuttled by Georgia River Network to Half Moon Landing. Learn more.
